How He Whipped Him.—A sad narrating an account of a fuss in which he had been engaged, gives the particulars: 'I'll tell you all about it. You see, Bill and I went down to the wharf to fish, and I felt in my pocket for a knife, and it was gone, and I said, 'Bill, you stole my knife,' and he said I was another; and I said, 'Go there yourself,' and he said it was no such thing. And I said I could whip him if I was bigger'n him, and he said he'd rock me to sleep mother,' and I said he was a bigger one. He said I never had the measles, and I said it was time for him to be over the measles, or I would fix him. Then he said my grandmother was no gentleman; and I said he stole it. But the last you bet. Then I got up and said he was too much afraid to do it again, and he tried to, but he didn't, and I grabbed him and threw him down on top of me like several bricks, and I tell you he got it, and he did he, and my little dog got vexed Bill and bit him, and Bill kicked at the dog, he ran I ran after the dog to fetch him back, and I didn't catch him till he got clear home—and I'll whip him more yet. Is my eye very black?'

DE PERVISIONS, JOSIAH.

A sapient looking Fayetteville darkey, oscillating between twenty and twenty-five summers, overtook an old negro on the street the other day, and wedging him in the fence corner, proceeded to acquaint him with all the gorgeous provisions of the Civil Rights bill. 'Young Africa imparted to Old Africa a fund of valuable information thusly:

'Well, Uncle Bill, Summer's Swivel Rights Bill hab passed de Senate ob de United States, without a mummer.'

'Is dat so, Josiar?'

'Jess so, Uncle Bill. And say, Uncle Billy, we colored pussons is going to see whose per visions is in de pot. We is gwine to be allowed to ride free on de railroads, smoke in de ladies' car, and put our feets on de percussions ob de seats whenever we damn please.'

'Is dat so, Josiar?'

'Jess so, Uncle Billy. And say, Uncle Billy, we's gwine to be allowed to stop at de hotels and set at the head ob de table, and hab de biggest slices ob de chickens, and fly around in de parlor and spit on de carpets, and make de white trash wait on themselves and wait on us without grumbling; and when we boss ob de concern shove a bill at us we'll hab him sent to Washington and ob cured in de plenipotentiary.'

'Is dat so, Josiar?'

'Jess so, Uncle Bill. And say, Uncle Billy, we's gwine to be allowed to go to de white schools and set on de flatform wid de teacher and l'arn gelography trigernometry, gelology, Latin, Dutch, French Choctaw, alcochry, rheumatics, de rule of thrice and de diarree.'

'Good gracious! is dat so, Josiar?'

'Jess so, Uncle Billy. And say, Uncle Billy, we's gwine to be allowed to be burried in italic coffins wid looking glasses on de top dem, and dey will hab to carry us on a hoarse to de grabe yard and bury us on de top ob de white folks, so when de day ob resurrection am arrive, and de angel Gabriel come 'round along he'll sing out from his trumpet—'All ob you colored gemmen rise 'fust!' And say, Uncle Billy is pervision ob dat Bill.'

'What's dat you say 'bout pervision, Josiar?'

'Well, Uncle Billy, as I gwine on to state, de provision of dat bill—'

'Stop right dar. Is pervision in dat bill?'

'Jess so, Uncle Billy. De pervisions in de Bill.'

'Stop right dat, Josiar. I'm darns pervisions in dat Bill. I want a sick ob dis bery minit. Darn de smokin' in de ladies car, and de georgraph, and de latin, and de italic coffins. I want de pervision, Josiar. Dey's all dere is in de bill wuff a dam cent!'

COGGIA'S COMET.

The comet now approaching the earth was first discovered at the observatory of Marseilles, France, by Mons. Coggia, astronomer there, on April 17. Its position at 9 o'clock Tuesday night was 7h. 20m. right ascension, 69 deg. 58m. north declination. The tail, resembling a half-opened fan, is about half a degree in length, but as the course of its progress is not directly towards the earth it is anticipated that in four weeks from the present time the appendage will shoot to much greater advantage. When the atmosphere is free from clouds, stars can at present be distinctly seen through the nebulous haze surrounding the head of the comet and forming the tail. Though visible to the eye unaided by any instrument, its precise position must, to be so seen, be very accurately determined. The position of our present visitor is one Proctor's map just above the small arrow-head west of stars forty-two and forty-three of Camelus (the Camelopard).

THE BILL TO SMOTHER THE PRESS.

The Richmond Dispatch thus notices the sudden zeal of certain Northern editors: 'We are somewhat entertained with the diatribes against the bill from certain editors who thought nothing of the outrageous prosecution of Southern citizens, their trial hundreds of miles from their homes, their conviction upon ex parte testimony, and confinement in prisons a thousand miles from home. That was a trivial matter, but this bill to facilitate trial for libel is intolerable and not to be borne. This is the day of oppression and humbug. We should add that it is another step in the march of consolidation. Also thus concludes an article in the New York Sun: 'Very well; let them persevere. Let the Republican majority in the House of Representatives enact the bill, and let President Grant sign it. They will find it return to plague them more than they can now imagine, and their end will be infinitely worse than their beginning.'

An Irish lover remarked that it is a great pleasure to be alone, especially when your 'sweetheart is wid ye.'

[EDITORIAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

Charlotte Observer.

BEAUFORT, N. C., June, 1874.

Beaufort is a quiet, old town of about twenty-five hundred inhabitants. It is situated in Carteret county, on the northern shore of a broad, deep harbor, in full view of the ocean.

The principal hotel is the ATLANTIC, situated immediately over the waters of the harbor. The building stands on piles, about six feet above ground, betwixt the high water and the low water marks so that the tide—the pure and cleansing waters from the briny deep itself—flows twice a day underneath the structure. This of course, is highly conducive to the healthfulness of the place.

This hotel is a large and imposing edifice three stories high, painted a leaden gray—in thorough tone with the usual color of the surrounding waters. It consists of a main building 150 feet in length, standing parallel with the margin of the beach, and two wings projecting out into the water towards the sea a distance of fifty feet each. The space between these wings, embracing an area of 40x75 feet, is covered with a huge suspension roof, forty feet high, and supported on the sea-front by twelve square columns, which gives the building a very imposing appearance on the water-side. Here is the ball room, or music hall, always open to the breeze, and commanding a wide and beautiful view of the harbor and Fort Macon, Old Topsail Inlet, Shackleford Banks, the Ocean, and Morehead City. It is lit by three handsome silvered deflecting chandeliers, which throw a flood of light over the broad, smooth area below, which is overlooked by the galleries to this inside court. The many advantages of this improvement will be thoroughly appreciated by those visitors who were here last year and before. The hall was constructed by A. J. Adair, one of the finest architects in the State. The suspension roof is a noble specimen of architectural skill.

The rooms are neatly furnished, and are generally accessible to the sea-breeze. Piazzas on their water-fronts add greatly to the comfort of guests. These rooms, which have been furnished with new and liberal supply of bed linen in place of the scanty supply last season, are capable of accommodating as many as three hundred persons, and perhaps a great many more, as hotels are like omnibusses—never full. That the sleeping apartments are neat and well furnished, is an improvement of vast consequence to the comfort of guests.

Among other improvements may be noted, for instance, the commodious parlors, newly painted, carpeted, adorned with pictures, and thrown into one by means of folding doors; the bathing houses, constructed on an improved plan; the lake enclosure, near the hotel; the croquet grounds, the bowling alleys, the shooting gallery, the billiard rooms, the flying trapeze, and other minor improvements too numerous to mention. Suffice it to say, that, so far as the hotel and its various appointments are concerned, nothing is wanting to make this one of the most delightful sea-side resorts upon the Atlantic coast. I may mention, in addition, that the culinary department is presided over by one of the best cooks in eastern North Carolina; that an abundant supply of neat tableware, &c., have been obtained, a well trained and polite corps of servants are employed, and the table is supplied with the best excellent fare—all that land and sea produce.

The improvements that I have mentioned have been made by Robert D. Graham Esq., of our city. He purchased the property eight months ago, after the close of the last season, with a view of making a permanent investment. He has already spent several thousand dollars in remodeling and refitting it. He has spared no expense in placing it among the first-class hotels of the South; and he has succeeded.

George W. Charlotte, Esq., is the proprietor of the hotel. He is a clever gentleman, and is thoroughly appreciated in his management. He is very active in attending to the wants of his guests, and leaves nothing undone in his efforts to contribute to their comfort. He is aided by competent and courteous assistants. Mr. Charlotte has had much experience, at home and abroad, in hotel keeping, and he gives entire satisfaction to all who take quarters at the Atlantic.

The great charm about the place is the continued presence of the sea. From every one of the water-front piazzas you have a fine view of Old Topsail Inlet, one mile and seventy-eight distant, and the ocean is seen beyond. Daily visible are the breakers, as they dash and tumble about the rocks which bar Beaufort and Bogue Inlets, and the sunlight, causing things of life rather than white crested waves of blue or emerald waters. The eye never tires of the sight. It is a perpetual pleasure to those who love to look upon such things.

To the right of this inlet lies Fort Macon, one mile and five-eighths from the hotel; and far away to the south-east stretches the long line of sandy coast that separates the ocean from the sound and the flat marshes. To the left of the inlet are Shackleford Banks, terminating at Cape Lookout Lighthouse, twelve miles distant. Two miles west of the hotel lies Morehead City. So the view is very extensive and interesting.

The cool, refreshing and invigorating breezes from the sea blow almost without cessation, night and day. This constitutes one of Beaufort's chiefest charms. It keeps everybody and everything delightfully cool, and prevents mosquitoes and other annoying insects from effecting a lodgment here. Musquitoes are as rare here as whales in the mountains. The place is entirely too breezy for them.

As a place of rest, refreshment and pleasure, Beaufort, or, more particularly now, the Atlantic Hotel, is unsurpassed on the Carolina coast. There is an entire absence of all disturbing influences. There is nothing unpleasant here; no dust, no annoying insects, no din and commotion. Peace and quiet have an unbroken reign. About everything there is an air of repose except the tide when it comes rolling in around and under the hotel; clear, full and strong from the sea.

And the sources of amusement and pleasure are almost boundless. At the hotel, there is a string and brass band of eleven pieces engaged for the whole season. They discourse sweet and enlivening music in the Music Hall, morning, noon and night. Those who wish to make music for themselves will find a new and excellent toned piano in the parlor. There are long bridges stretching off from the hotel in various directions over the water, where pleasure promenading may be done. There is the surf bathing, which is one of the most attractive of all sea-side resorts; the rowing, the sailing, the fishing, the hunting, the billiard playing, the croquet exercise, the shooting practice, and the rolling of tenpins. Everything that heart can desire in the way of pleasant social pastimes may be found.

The Atlantic Hotel supplies a want long felt by North Carolina. It furnishes to her citizens a sea-side resort, upon her own shores, under her own skies, where the heated term may be passed charmingly by those who seek health or pleasure. Beaufort is North Carolina's ocean-gallery. It is very accessible to all parts of the State. And here our citizens may come in the hot Summer months to get cooled off, to be refreshed, reinvigorated and rejuvenated, to breathe the pure and bracing air fresh from off the vasty deep; to catch a sight of the boundless ocean, and watch the splendid play of its waves as they break over the rocks, or dash in long, flashing lines upon the sandy, shell-strewn beach; to listen to the sea's mighty voice, the roar of the breakers, and the loud-sounding surf; and to forget, for awhile, amid the many enjoyments to be had here, the cares and troubles of life, its business and its vexations. When the charms of Beaufort, and the comforts and conveniences of the Atlantic Hotel, especially, are properly known and appreciated, the pleasure seekers of this State will turn this way, instead of seeking the haunts of fashion elsewhere.

A very good story is circulating in Washington at the expense of Mr. Morrill, of Maine. It seems that the Senator was out for a walk Sunday evening. In passing a leading colored church he was so pleased with the singing that he went in. He had been seated about a few minutes when a colored dignitary approached him and said in substance that the church was for colored people and they preferred to be left undisturbed by white people during their services. Mr. Morrill retired. A few days before he had been earnestly working for the passage of the Civil Rights bill.

They tell us of a hen which floated down the raging tide at Mill river for some distance, in the barrel where she was laboriously covering nineteen eggs. She attended strictly to business during the flood, finally brought up in a friendly harbor, and has since left the barber with nineteen chickens at her heels.

A man who was seen coming out of a Texas newspaper office with a split nose, with one eye and with one ear, explained to a policeman that he entered the office simply to inquire if the editor was in. 'And he was in,' the victim mournfully added.

A boy of sixteen years of age left eight years ago, with the loftiest aspirations. He said he would make people open their mouths. He is now a dentist in Wisconsin.

Bob how is your sweetheart getting along? 'Pretty well, I guess; the way I reckon I will any more.'

Man is the only thing created with reason, and still he is the most unreasonable thing created.

Give me the hill-house, Pale, and where would you be? 'Along your flower.'

Post Master General Jewett has resigned, and Eugene Hale is appointed to succeed him.

Congress has increased the appropriation for the improvement of the Cape Fear River to $200,000, and has added $150,000 to the appropriation for the Post Office building at Raleigh.

PUBLIC DISCUSSION.

On Tuesday last, for the first time the two candidates for the Congressional representation of this District met in debate. Owing to the fact that it was altogether an informal arrangement, of which no due public notice had been given, but mainly because it was in the very midst of the wheat and oat harvest, an operation which can never be deferred when the time comes, the assemblage was small, but it was a fair representation of all parts of the county, and of men able to diffuse the impressions made by the speakers.

We will here state for the information of the 'Republican,' who claims that Capt. Davis 'backed down,' because he would not divide time with Mr. Headen, that there was a most fair and equitable division of time, each speaker agreeing to occupy one hour in the first speeches, and half an hour in any subsequent remarks.

Capt. Davis opened the discussion at 12 o'clock, by an apology for his appearance at this time when it was not a regular appointment. He expressed his diffidence in appearing before an Orange county audience, a people who had been familiar with the great men who adorned her history, and his diffidence was increased by a knowledge that he was addressing those whose preferences were for another. But he was nominated in full convention of the district, and that nomination was in compliment to the county of Franklin which had never been honored in this mode before.

Capt. Davis then proceeded to define his own position. He was in a measure unknown to the people of the District, and it was their right they should know what he was. He had not been much in public life, though always taking an interest in public affairs. He had been opposed to the war, and was in favor of exhausting all peaceable means to maintain peace. But Lincolns proclamation compelled him to act. A neutral position was not that of a patriot, and it would have been unnatural if he had not gone with his people. He had therefore taken sides with the south, and early in '62 had raised a company with which he had gone as captain, and with which he served until taken prisoner, captured in the front rank, always refusing promotion, though offered the post of Quarter Master, and that of Major. * * *

Mr. Davis charged Mr. Headen with voting for the ordinance of secession. He had heard that Mr. H. in his speech at Raleigh had laid great stress on his Union record. Mr. H. said he would explain at the proper time.

Capt. Davis then went on to review the present condition of the country. Down to the day of Lincoln's proclamation, it was prosperous and constantly improving. A sectional platform had ruined everything, and the trouble began with the triumph of the Republican party. That party has had unrestrained control since the war. Five years of Grant's administration showed an expenditure exceeding by one hundred millions of dollars, the whole expenses from the foundation of the government to Lincoln's inauguration, including all the wars, British, Mexican and Indian. During these five years sixteen hundred millions of dollars had been spent, exclusive of that went toward the extinguishment of the public debt. This was the party we were asked to retain in power! What blessings it has brought upon the country! What paradise it has made of South Carolina, of Louisiana, of Arkansas, of Texas!

Capt. Davis drew a strong picture of the extravagance and corruption of the government; he called attention to the disgraceful Sanborn contracts by which Sanborn was allowed to collect millions in the shape of taxes by arrangement with high officials; to collect money it was the duty and in the power of government officials to collect, receive half of the sum collected, and go off clear with his spoil. Inquiry had showed that the Secretary of the Treasury, by ignorance or worse, had permitted this wrong, and had been compelled to resign under the pressure of public opinion, and then Grant had rewarded him by making him Judge of the court of claims, and a radical Senate had confirmed the appointment. This was a specimen of the purity of the administration—the people plundered and the robbers rewarded.

Capt. D. reviewed the currency troubles, showed how little we had a right to look to Grant for relief; he was in the interests of the bond-holders, who had bought the bonds when they were selling at 40 cents in the dollar, and now demanded pay in gold at par. The currency bill was a measure for the relief of the South and West, but the pressure of the bond-holders was brought to bear on the President and he vetoed it.

It was fair to infer from facts, that the President was accessible to such influences. It was well known he had received large presents. Wilson had said that when Grant went into the army he was too poor to buy a sword, now he was worth his hundreds of thousands! Where did it come from?

CIVIL RIGHTS.

Mr. Davis treated his competitor was opposed to this bill of abominations and iniquity. But he belongs to the party that fathers it. Two thirds of the Senate voted for it. Only one Senator, Carpenter opposed it. W. A. Smith was opposed to it, but Hyman was running on that platform. The speaker said he was not against the negro, but was in favor of securing him all the rights he had under existing laws. No more, and no less. The white man was to blame for the bill. It was the white man pushing on the colored man to get into office through him. No white man in the South would be in the radical ranks if there were no offices to fill.

And the whites and blacks of the South had become better harmonised. The latter had begun to understand how they had been abused for the advantage of white adventurers from the North. They had begun to see they had been turned against their old masters without cause. They began to turn, and the party was about to lose 800,000 colored votes. The civil rights bill was devised to keep this vote and to gratify the revenge of northern men. It sowed discord where contentment began to reign. There was no need of the bill. There was no right denied or disturbed. It was an unnatural effort to unite things disjointed. The colored man goes to his churches, and schools. We go to ours. We move in different spheres.

The bill was defeated, but it will be called up next session, and there is nothing to prevent its passage. Boutwell says prejudices must be broken down by the force of law. God has fixed one plan, the radicals would amend it.

A man may say he is a good republican, but is opposed to civil rights. That is the chief issue now. Say to him, 'if you vote the republican ticket, you are in favor of the bill.' The negroes where they are in the majority, favor the bill. They have drawn the line, not the whites.

After an animated appeal to pride of race to come out and act, the speaker said that the fault of our present suffering rested with us. We did not take enough interest in our affairs. After the manner of the trees, in the parable of Jothan, the son of Gideon, when they met to choose a king, we have all declined the burden of public service, and the bramble has taken its place to rule over us.

His hour having closed, Mr. Davis gave way to who announced himself as a candidate for Congress, and expressed his pleasure at meeting the people of Orange. In regard to his political antecedents, it might be his duty to explain, and he had nothing to conceal. He was a Whig before the war and to its beginning. It was his fortune to be elected to the secession convention. He went there as a Union man, to keep the State in the Union. My opponent says, I aided in carrying the State out. It was already out—out by the action of the party to which the gentleman belongs. The forts had been seized. Gov. Ellis, a noted secessionist, was at the head of the government. What could I do but vote for the ordinance, for there was personal danger in refusing to sign. Even W. A. Graham did not dare oppose it. He in conjunction with Gen. E. Badger, introduced an ordinance declaring the State in a state of Revolution, to avoid recognition of the doctrine of secession. Burton Craig introduced a copy of the South Carolina Ordinance. Judge Ruffin, the man of the Convention, co-operating with the party, did not recognize the doctrine, and introduced an amendment, that the people seek out; because they failed to do it. This was voted down, all signed the Ordinance. The band (union) didn't give up then. They voted for the adoption of the provisional government of the Confederate States. His opponent insinuated he did not go into the war; he had nothing to conceal. When the war came he was with his people, but was not in the army, but he got a place as quarter master in the home guards to keep out of danger.

After the cause was lost, Mr. Headen said he was in favor of submission in good faith. How was it with his opponent and party? They fought re-construction at every step; they were still the disunion party.

[We must pass over what the speaker said in regard to opposition to reconstruction, to his little matters, and all the stale and worn out weapons of radical oratory.]

In regard to charges of corruption the speaker said, that there were bad men in all parties &c. &c. As regards the amount of debt, he denied that to be the result of radical rule. It was the direct fruit of democratic policy. That produced the war, and that led to debt. [A great deal of this stuff was put forth as argument, but his defence of the government and of the party was so weak, that the speaker was heard with merely civil patience.] He admitted that the South had been badly treated. Hordes of thieves had been down from the North. Such things he would not justify or defend to secure his seat. But the party who brought on the war was responsible.

CIVIL RIGHTS.

The speaker regarded this as a bug-bear and was surprised at the commotion it created. For his part he was opposed to it. It was detrimental to both whites and blacks. Sumner had said the bill gave no new rights. This law only enforced them. But Sumner's bill was prejudicial to the colored man. If let alone the races would get along. The colored people don't enforce the idea themselves. Colored barbers would not shave colored men.

"WE COLORED PEOPLE"

do not want any such bill. Why was the bill introduced? It was a measure of retaliation for the resistance made to the reconstruction and other measures. It had its origin in the fanaticism of the north, which had its counterpart on the secession spirit of the South.

The Democrats talk of receiving Greely as a peace offering. Greely had indoctrinated the northern mind with these notions. So had Sumner, and the Democrats had once thought him a very proper man.

The bill has not passed and he did not believe it would pass. It would have been if Greely had been President. But Grant would veto it. He was opposed to it. But it was a raw head and bloody bones. If it did pass, the country would not be affected by it.

The speaker had something to say about election laws adopted by the last Legislature &c. &c., and closed by an appeal to bury all party animosity and pledged himself if elected to go as an independent and honest servant.

Mr. Davis replied in a speech of about half an hour, in which he handled Mr. Headen in a way that delighted his hearers. In commenting upon the subject of secession, which had been the burden of Mr. Headen's song in Raleigh, the gentleman had tried to shield himself behind Mr. Graham. He should not have such refuge. Mr. Badger had introduced his resolutions first. Craige were introduced afterwards. Mr. Headen had voted for Mr. Badger's resolutions, which after declaring the State free sovereign and independent, owing no subordination or obedience to the United States, &c., pledged themselves to the uttermost of our power and to the last extremity to maintain, defend and uphold the same.'

Mr. Headen had showed his sincerity by seeking refuge in the Home guards, where there was little service and no danger, while he (Mr. D.) had left wife and children and all to do what his State called upon him to do.

In reply to Mr. Headen's views of civil rights, Mr. D. made a strong appeal to the white man to remember his pride of race. The Republican party could have no existence except by appeal to the basest passion of the white man. A good republican says it is time these things should cease. Those who dont look for office should look to it. The greed of office is all that keeps strife alive. * * * * *

The party responsible for the war is the party that claimed a higher law than the Constitution. They put their doctrines in practice long before Lincoln's election, and the war actually commenced in Kansas with John Brown's gang. The south is free from the guilt of beginning the strife.

* * * * * *

Mr. Headen in rejoinder, said he did not know where he had been since the war, politically. Had not united with either party till last Presidential election. Had voted with both sides till the convention bill of 1871 against which he took ground, as revolutionary. Since then he had acted with the republican party. But he did not agree with it in everything; he was more opposed to the civil rights bill than Davis himself, because its passage would have been gratifying to his party. The colored people dont desire the bill. It would be a greater calamity to them than any one else.

The Republican party is not responsible for the government, (!) There was an extreme party north, as well as south. Greely and Sumner are more responsible than all others. They co-operated with the secessionists of the South to break up the Union.

The speaker admitted the bad state of affairs in South Carolina, Louisiana, Arkansas and elsewhere, as the result of radical rule. But it was because men at the south could not take the oaths of office, and bad men got into power. He could not approve &c.

He admitted the Legislature of 1868 had acted badly. It was republican, but they were urged on by leading Democrats, who shared the fruits of the plunder of the State.

With a brief effort to establish this position, and with a renewed assault on the election law, Mr. Headen closed, with the certainty of having made no converts, and with the almost equal assurance of having alienated some friends.

We have no room for general news this week.

Attention is called to Col. Ruffin's card, received too late for notice.

Tax payers will take notice of the call of the Mayor in this issue.

No special change to note in Tobacco Markets.

Judge Clarke is an independent candidate against Seymore, nominated by convention.

The Grand Jury of Wake county has found a true bill against, the negro Blake for the outrage on Miss Haley and the trial will begin immediately.

A CARD.

To the Electors of the Seventh Judicial District of North Carolina:

RESPECTFULLY announce that I am a candidate for the office of Judge at this coming election.

I have been determined to take this step, by the advice of many personal friends and the solicitations of parties belonging to the several political parties in the District, who prefer themselves desirous of having the law administered without reference to Party.

Being incapable of soliciting votes for such an office, upon the score of party prejudices, I should make no allusion at all to that subject if it had not been charged in some of the Public Prints (in advance of any publicly announced purpose of mine to become a candidate,) that I had changed my party affiliations in the hope of reward from those, to whom as is well known, I have hitherto been opposed.

Such a charge is alike unjust to me, and to those who make it, and I here give it my most positive denial: There never has been a day and there can never come a day in my life when I have been, or can be, willing to separate my fortunes from those of this good people of my native State, with whom I have so long and so cordially sympathized.

In conclusion, I beg to assure the whole people of this District, that in the event of my promotion to so honorable and important an office, I will use my best efforts to discharge its duties faithfully, by an equal, just and impartial administration of the Law.

We owe an apology for our unsatisfactory report of Tuesday's discussion. If we had attempted less, we would have accomplished more, but to reduce the notes of a four hours discussion to the compass of two or three columns, is a task which none can appreciate but he who tries it. The report must go for what it is worth.

See our Graham letter for an account of the Judicial convention. Our political friends returned considerably down in the mouth. "Greensboro has out-generaled Hillsboro."

Mill Burnt.

We regret to learn that the mill of Mr. W. W. Guess, in the eastern part of the county was recently burnt, together with a large quantity of grain.

The mill had recently been repaired, and the dam which was carried away by a freshet in the winter, just reconstructed. The loss is a serious one both to the proprietor, and the neighborhood.

Report of Graham School.

We have received the circular of this Institution for the session just ended. It presents the gratifying exhibit of 122 names on the catalogue, which for a school just gone into existence, is hardly to be equalled.

Of the school we have often spoken and need say nothing. To its able corps it will add another teacher, Mr. Hugh Morson Jr, a graduate of the University of Va, who will teach in the Ancient Languages, and German and English Branches.

He comes highly recommended. We expect to see the school well filled at its opening in July.

Wilson Collegiate Institute.

We have received a catalogue of this institution which shows a flourishing condition of things.

It acts upon the principle of the co-education of the sexes. It is not our purpose to express an opinion upon this subject, but from the number of pupils the idea seems to have advocates, there being during the session 33 Female, and 85 Male students.

This Institute is located in the flourishing town of Wilson on the W. & W. R. R.

"We Colored People"

Mr. Headen is so saturated with his present associations, that despite his opposition to the Civil Rights Bill, he includes himself in the beloved race whose votes he seeks, but whose rights he denies. His white hearers didn't take the compliment kindly, and his colored friends received but a meagre concession to unsatisfied expectations.

"We colored people" wont catch many votes, Mr Headen.

St. Nicholas for July is to hand. The illustrations are good, and the reading matter excellent. Among the latter is Bret Harte's "Baby Sylvester" which the adult as well as the youth, can read with pleasure.

Few people unacquainted with physiological chemistry are aware of the quantity of iron in the blood, but all should know the importance of keeping up the supply, for debility, disease and death are sure to follow when the quantity becomes too much reduced. The Peruvian Syrup (a protoxide of Iron) supplies this vital element, and has cured many chronic diseases.

GRAHAM, N. C., June 23rd 1874.

Editor of the Recorder:—"The Great Unwashed" held their Convention or "pow-wow" here to-day to nominate, or, rather not to nominate, candidates for Judge and Solicitor of the 7th Judicial District.

The delegates black and white, pie-bald and gray, or rather colored and plain, commenced assembling yesterday afternoon, and by day-light this morning all were on hand.

It was supposed that the convention would, of course, be in the Court House and public to all; but about nine o'clock they assembled in secret conclave, or Lodges, or Knights meeting—I don't know what they called it—in the upper room of the store of Harden & Bros. Many persons had come to town to see the show, but so far as I could hear, no one except the great unwashed could gain admittance. Here they seemed to be in a great wrangle; many retiring to caucus in knots of two or three, but soon retiring to the upper story. One of the delegates seeming to have had a long road to travel and a heavy load of "groceries" to carry, landed on the steps of a vacant house on the corner of the Court House square, and seemed very much to enjoy a nap in the sun. It was said by some that he was the chairman, but I do not vouch for it. Our town photographer was to take his picture but the sun was too hot.

The town was all on the qui vive for information as to what was going on or to get a chance to see the exhibition, but no opportunity was allowed for that. About half past 12 o'clock a committee left the secret meeting for the hotel, and soon returned with A. W. Tourgee who has lately filled, according to his own fashion, the office of Judge in this District. What there transpired, I cannot say; as I was not inside. Perhaps one of your townsman can tell you, as he was one of the committee who escorted him. I happened to pass the place of the "pow wow" about one o'clock and a great noise was heard therein as if something "strong" was going on.

At three o'clock P. M. the Court House bell was rung, and the open convention commenced—all the preliminares having been arranged in the secret conclave.

W S. Ball was called to the chair, and George Bowe colored, and H. N. Brown appointed Secretaries. A certain gentleman, whose name was not among the list of delegates, seemed to make all the motions.

When the committee on resolutions was selected, one of the members from your county was appointed on the committee, but he not being in, two other men from Orange and one from Alamance—two of them lawyers, and the other a Justice of the Peace, went with the committee, though not members of it all. It seemed to take them some time to get accustomed to the hand writing of the draughtsman of the resolutions, as they were a long time in returning, and when they did come in, the resolutions were written in a good hand on editorial paper, though no editor was near the committee, nor any one that could write a readable hand. In their resolutions, they tried to reflect upon the nominations of the Conservatives and declined to make any nominations, pledging themselves to support any fair minded man who would run.

At the end, they passed a resolution of faint praise to Tourgee, thus attempting to draw him off, as he has already announced himself a candidate. I don't think they can succeed in that, as Tourgee is too smart to bite at such chaff.

At the beginning of the meeting, the delegates were requested to take seats within the bar. As they did, so I counted them, and these were 8 negroes and 13 white men.

So far as I have ever seen any of these "Red" conventions, the people are not represented, only the town cliques having a hand in it. Orange had nobody here except from Hillsboro and Chapel Hill, and Alamance was represented by no one who lives more than 3 miles from the Court House, except Bowe—the late representative from Caswell—who has within a short time past moved into this county.

It is reported this evening that a gentleman from your town will be the candidate for Judge and that Tourgee will run for Solicitor. I do not know how they fixed it up.

Count on Alamance for her usual majority. We have several independents, but to use a vulgar phrase, they will not "black the board."

Crops are pretty good and our farmers in fine spirits.

A Missionary Baptist Church was organized in this town last Sunday. They expect to build a church at once.

Public Exhibition.

The annual exhibition of the musical proficiency of the young ladies of the school of the Misses Nash and Miss Kollock which, since the foundation of the school has been a source of much pleasure to our citizens, came off on Thursday evening with even more than usual eclat. The rooms were crowded with the very elite of the town, and honored with the presence of visitors from abroad. They were beautifully decorated with wreaths and flowers, and brilliantly illuminated, forming, with the bright array of pretty girls, and handsomely dressed ladies, a very charming picture.

It was the first opportunity for a test of the capacity of the new musical instructor, M. Emile Bucky, and the result was triumphant. His own command of the instrument is perfect. His touch is bold, yet clear delicate and tasteful, and his manner free from that grimace, and distorted action which many performers consider essential to effect. His pupils all showed the result of careful, thorough, scientific training, and whether in the Solo, Duet or Quartette, the effect was equally satisfactory, and alike creditable to teacher and pupil.

Altogether, we were impressed with the fact, strengthened by the opportunities we have had of making comparisons with other schools, that none in the state surpass this in the advantages of acquiring a thorough musical education while in other respects it is quite equal to any.

We have no room for the programme, which both vocal and instrumental was very full, and recherche, for the ample professional experience of M. Bungy directed him to a selection from among the best masters and models.

It is a difficult and delicate thing to make discriminations where all was good; much, very excellent. Admiring and appreciating all the instrumental performances, we must be pardoned if we only specially refer to the difficult but admirably executed Grand Polka de Concert by Miss Witherspoon, and 'La Cascade" by Miss Mary Nash and the quartette 'Concordantia by Misses Witherspoon, Emple. Nash and Long.

Our tastes led us to a preference to the vocal music which was, without an exception, perfect. Les Jardinieres' by Misses Bryan and Hamilton was sung with wonderful spirit. 'Heaven in the valley' by Miss Bryan brought out the magnificent voice of this fine singer to great advantage. The audience was perfectly carried away by the chorus 'Les Chasseresses,' sung by all the musical pupils. 'The Flower girl' by Miss Hamilton was very charmingly sung. The vocal duet 'I Pescatori' by Misses Bryan and Hamilton was also beautifully and spiritedly rendered. If we could express on our own part any special preference, it would be for the Gypsies by the Misses Hart, (of Wilmington) These was about this song, something so weirdly, strangely beautiful, so wide a variance from the rules of musical composition to which the ear is accustomed, that it carried the imagination away to the semi-barbaric East, where musical emotions sought utterance in forms unknown to us and to art.

When all was excellent it is not safe or fair to make discrimination and we therefore conclude our brief notice with the expression of full and unmixed pleasure enjoyed, a result which must be infinitely gratifying both to the principals of the school and their many and very warm friends every where.

Amende.

We would do no injustice to a political opponent, and therefore, on the authority of Mr. I. R. Strayhorn, correct a statement which we made in our issue of the 17th in regard to Chapin of Chatham, and Mr. Headen's position on the Civil Rights bill.

Mr. Strayhorn said the remark and its occasion had no reference to the Bill. It was a question relative to the delegations, and the right of the one to vote on the admission of the other.

Some one said that it was without precedent, that a delegation or a party interested in the decision, should exercise such a privilege. Mr. Chapin said it had a precedent; that on the occasion of a contested seat in Congress, in which a colored man was concerned, W. A. Smith had voted, and against seating the negro. Mr. S. admitted the fact. There was the cheering for one, and silence when Mr. Smith spoke.

Mr. Strayhorn thinks Mr. Woodson, from his position, might readily have misconceived the subject, and ascribes no intention to misrepresent.

This much for Mr. Chapin. Mr. Headen has since spoken for himself.

Arrest.

A young negro man was arrested here on Wednesday afternoon, and after examination before Esquire Murlock was committed to jail on suspicion of being the party who committed the horrible outrage on Miss Hayley near Morrisville. On Thursday it was ascertained that the real criminal had been arrested at Holly Springs, and the suspected person was forthwith discharged.

No complaint can be made of the arrest, for the crime was of so dreadful a nature as to justify extreme measures for its detection and the negro arrested here very closely answered the description in the printed handbill.

Married.

WILMINGTON.

Our Wilmington Correspondence.

WILMINGTON, June 27th, 1874.

Dear Recorder:—I don't know how it is up in your latitude, but down here it is fearfully fearful. The heat has been most intense for the past two or three days, and the prospects are getting worse and higher at the same time—that is, the sun seems to come down each day with an accumulating intensity of heat. We do nothing here but drink ice water and perspire, and your correspondent, who is one of that unfortunate class of ample rotundity, is rapidly running away to soapgrease. Whether the rapid approach of the comet has anything to with this wester, I am not prepared to state. I only know that the weather has con'd over my pool-pipelinks to an extent heretofore unparalleled, in this correspondents experience. If this weather is anything of a foretaste of what is to come after we "shuffle off," the churches ought to do good business about now.

Since my last letter to you, we have had a fearful accident to an excursion train on the Carolina Central Railway, full particulars of which your readers have already had, and I shall therefore not repeat them here. The wounded, I am happy to state, are all improving now, and strong hopes are entertained of their final recovery.

But' we die and are forgotten' and the today of this age and this generation is too full of its own important events to allow of a too long lingering on the events of yesterday, even though pregnant with much of anguish and distress.

We have had during the past week a number of new friends from among the merchants and bankers of Charlotte, to visit our city. They arrived here on Tuesday afternoon and left on Thursday for their homes. They came in a special train all the way from Charlotte provided through the liberality and kindness of the railroad authorities. They were met here by our own merchants, and during the period of their stay, the old-time hospitality of Wilmington found full vent. They were toasted and feasted every where, and were shown everything that was worth seeing in this vicinity. They are a splendid lot of gentlemen, and we believe they appreciated to the full, the efforts that were made here for their entertainment.

As was to be expected, those who met here on Tuesday as strangers, parted on Friday as friends, and we feel justified in saying that the event will be productive of the most lasting benefits to both peoples. Wilmington and Charlotte will hereafter be sisters in trade and good feelings, as they have hitherto been by topography. The iron link only is wanting to bridge over the distance between them, and this is to be completed by the Fall.

It is almost too hot to talk politics now, yet I will hazard the assertion that the skies were never brighter, (not hotter) than they are now. Radicalism in North Carolina is surely dead, and the funeral will just as surely take place in August. We will certainly bury our share of it here in the political "Potter's Field," and so deep will be its grave, that the stench will never arise again to offend the nostrils of honest men.

Yours,
CAPE FEAR.

The Villain Captured.

John Taylor Blake, the negro who outraged Miss Haley near Morrisville last week was captured on Wednesday night at Holly Springs in Wake by a party of whites and blacks. He was committed to jail in Raleigh He admits the crime, 'A strong rope, and a short shrift' for all such cases. He is a negro about 22 years of age. Miss Haley has been brought before the Grand Jury of Wake.

Lee, Greene, Lindley & Bentley's Great Family Medicines,

Prepared expressly for and adapted to the Southern climate.

"Compound Extract Corydalis," is the most powerful and efficient Alterative and Blood Purifier known, prepared expressly for Scrofula, Secondary Syphilis, Eruptions on the skin, and all diseases which are produced by bad or unhealthy blood.

"Dr. Green's Fit Cure," cures all kinds of Fits, Spasms and Convulsions, which depend upon irritation of the nerve centres; often stops the Fits from the first day's use ever where they have existed for years.

"Medicated Honey," the great remedy for Coughs, Colds, Croup, Asthma, Bronchitis, Sore Throat and all diseases of the Air-passages and Lungs. It does not sicken the patient, is pleasant to take, prompt in its action, does not injure the appetite or impair digestion as most Expectorants do.

Our "Neuralgia Specific" is a perfect specific for Neuralgia, Sciatica, Rheumatism, & all muscular or nervous pains wherever situated.

These Medicines are prepared with great care from perfectly reliable drugs, and for the especial diseases named upon each bottle. No one of them is claimed to be a cure all. They are identically the same as those we have used in our practice for years, and in thus recommending them to the public we know whereof we affirm. They are safe, reliable and efficient, acting quickly and thoroughly. Try them and you will want no others. Ask your Druggist for them.

Conduct an Agency for the reception of advertisements for American Newspapers, the most complete establishment of the kind in the world. Six thousand Newspapers are kept regularly on file, open to inspection of customers. Every advertisement is taken at the home price of the paper, without any additional charge or commission. An advertiser is dealing with the Agency, is saved trouble and correspondence, making one contract instead of a dozen, a hundred or a thousand. A BOOK of eight pages, containing lists of best papers, papers of circulation, religious, agricultural, class, political, daily and country papers, and all publications which are specially valuable to advertisers, with some information about prices, is sent FREE to any address on application. Persons at a distance wishing to make contracts for advertising in any part of the country, State or Territory in the United States, or any portion of the Dominion of Canada, may obtain a correct statement of what they want, by this with a copy of the ADVERTISEMENT they desire inserted, and will receive information by return mail which will enable them to decide whether to increase or reduce the order. All the information they can obtain elsewhere, for which there is a charge, they will receive for a single dollar, as well as for a list; for a single dollar as readily as for a larger sum. HEALTH! BEAUTY!!

STRONG AND PURE RICH BLOOD—INCREASE OF FLESH AND PERMANENT HEALTH AND BEAUTIFUL COMPLEXION SECURED TO ALL.

DR. RADWAY'S

Sarsaparillian Resolvent

THE GREAT BLOOD PURIFIER.

HAS MADE THE MOST ASTONISHING CURES. SO QUICK, RAPID ARE THE CHANGES WITH THE BLOOD AND ENTIRE SYSTEM UNDER THE INFLUENCE OF THIS TRULY WONDERFUL MEDICINE THAT

Every Day an Increase in Flesh and Weight is Seen and Felt.

EVERY DROP OF THE SARSAPARILLIAN RESOLVENT

MUST commence infusing into the blood, through the digestive organs, its health-giving principles, and the cures of the most obstinate chronic diseases must follow. Scrofula, Syphilis, Consumption, Glandular Affections, Ulcers in the throat, Mercurial Disease, Old Sores, Erysipelas, Fever Sores, Boils, Blotches, Tumors, Tetter, Salt Rheum, Ringworm, Scurfiness of the skin, and every species of disease arising from impure blood, are the special subjects for the cure of the Sarsaparillian Resolvent. Not one of the above diseases can exist for a moment after the Sarsaparillian Resolvent has established its health-giving influence upon the blood and secretions. Thousands have been changed by its use from weak, sickly, suffering creatures to strong, healthy and happy men and women, and invalids cannot reasonably hope to give it a trial too soon.

Kidney & Bladder Complaints,

Weakness and Pain in the Back, Irritation of Water, Inflammation of Urine, Brick dust deposits, Albuminous, Ropy and Milky Urine, Pain and Weakness in the Bladder, Inflammation (irritation or an old case), should take RADWAY'S SARSAPARILLIAN RESOLVENT, and the cure is certain. Nothing can be more painful than a case of Stone in the Bladder, Gravel, Inflammation of the Kidneys, or Ulceration of the Bladder, and no case need become chronic before a cure is effected. Not only does the SARSAPARILLIAN RESOLVENT prevent the secretion of calculus in the urinary passages, but it dissolves and expels it, and relieves at once the most painful symptoms. CALIFORNIA

D. WALKER'S

EUREKA

VINEGAR BITTERS

Dr. J. Walker's California Vinegar Bitters are a purely Vegetable preparation, made chiefly from the native herbs found on the lower ranges of the Sierra Nevada mountains of California, the medicinal properties of which are extracted therefrom without the use of Alcohol. The question is almost daily asked, "What is the cause of the unparalleled success of VINEGAR BITTERS?" Our answer is, that they remove the cause of disease, and the patient recovers his health. They are the great blood purifier and a life-giving principle, a perfect Renovator and Invigorator of the system. Never before in the history of the world has a medicine been compounded possessing the remarkable qualities of VINEGAR BITTERS in healing the sick of every disease man is heir to. They are a gentle Purgative as well as a Tonic, relieving Congestion or Inflammation of the Liver and Visceral Organs in Bilious Diseases.

The properties of Dr. WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS are Aperient, Diaphoretic, Carminative, Nutritious, Laxative, Diuretic, Sedative, Counter-Irritant, Sudorific, Alterative, and Anti-Bilious.

Iron in the Blood

MAKES THE WEAK STRONG.

The Peruvian Syrup, a Protected Solution of the Protoxide of Iron, is so combined as to have the character of an ailment, as easily digested and assimilated with the blood as the simplest food. It increases the quantity of Nature's Own Vitalizing Agent, Iron in the Blood, and cures "a thousand ills," simply by Toning up, Invigorating and Vitalizing the System. The enriched and vitalized blood permeates every part of the body, repairing damages and waste, searching out wasted secretions, and leaving nothing for disease to feed upon.

This is the secret of the wonderful success of this remedy in curing Dyspepsia, Liver Complaint, Dropsy, Chronic Diarrhœa, Boils, Nervous Affections, Chills and Fevers, Humors, Loss of Constitutional Vigor, Diseases of the Kidneys and Bladder, Female Complaints, and all diseases originating in a bad state of the blood, or accompanied by debility or a low state of the system. Being free from Alcohol, in any form, its energizing effects are not followed by corresponding reaction, but are permanent, infusing strength, vigor and new life into all parts of the system, and building up the Iron Constitution.

Thousands have been changed by the use of this remedy, from weak, sickly, suffering creatures to strong, healthy and happy men and women, and invalids cannot reasonably hope to give it a trial too soon.

Be sure you get a bottle of PERUVIAN SYRUP. Pamphlets free.
